Library will get new equipment

Fiscal Court believes a way to provide equipment and furnishings for the Letcher County Public Library in the courthouse. At a December meeting on Monday, the court authorized Judge James M. Caudill County Attorney Stanley R. apply for a federal grant of $5,000 under the new library act passed by Congress months ago.

The act provides federal matching funds of two-thirds for community library expansion and improvement.

The county will get its $7,000 and matching funds from the federal government.

The court will order work stopped on the library portion of the new courthouse. A $5,000 worth of work is to be done on the library, and the money is already set aside and available. The court will provide $5,000 of the money needed.

The Letcher County Public Board will be asked to supply with $2,000 from its own funds. If the library board does not have the money, "we'll find a way," said Judge Caudill.

delayed about a month beyond the completion of the rest of the building, however. The federal government requires submission of a complete set of plans for the library portion in order to make the grant money available. The fiscal court authorized William B. Moore, a Louisville architect, to make the plans at a fee of 10 per cent of the cost of the project. Moore is the architect for the courthouse.

County commissioner Beckham Bates asked that work be done on roads at Goose Creek and Whiteo and on the Old Cowan road near Whitesburg. Judge Caudill said the work requested at Whiteo is an "impossibility." He said the work would require a five or six foot fill in some places 500 or 600 feet long, and then, he said, the land is so swampy he doubts whether the fill could be done properly. The judge said he had visited the area and walked along it and did not see how the work could be accomplished at a cost the county could afford. Whiteo residents had asked for a road which would not flood.

Judge Caudill said he did not believe the state had set aside funds to work on the Goose Creek road this year. The court decided to contact the state highway department and see.

Of the Old Cowan Road, which leads from Cowan street in Whitesburg, across a mountain, Judge Caudill said strip mining in the area had created a situation impossible to remedy. The county could put red dog on the road, he said, but with the next rain it would all wash down the hill and onto Main Street in Whitesburg. Mud and debris from the strip mine on the mountain above the road is a constant problem to residents of the road and of Cowan Street.

College sites seen

possible Letcher County of a proposed community college were inspected this week by the University of Kentucky officials.

included the Willie Lucas farm near Whiteo, the bottom-land surrounding the Whitesburg, the Day farm near Erwin and the old Stuart Robinson farm near Blackey.

The sites were inspected by UK officials Dr. John Oswald, Dean of Community Colleges Dr. Ellis and Jay Hauselman, who are in charge of research for the University.

Dr. Oswald, accompanied by several residents, spent all day Monday in an on-foot inspection of the sites. He was accompanied by the part of the University officials. They walked through most every inch of the sites and then, at two localities, climbed to the top of hills in order to obtain an overall view of the land.

They were accompanied on the trip by Jack Burkich, chairman of the local committee which is negotiating with the University, by committee members Collins, Archie Craft, Adams, Joe Back and by Dr. Adams, editor of The Mountain Eagle.

Dr. Oswald and members of his staff were guests at a Wednesday breakfast attended by 60 local residents. The city president spoke briefly at the breakfast, describing the expected increase in college enrollments and the opportunities offered by the community.

Telephone company completes expansion

Southern Bell Telephone Co. has completed a $110,000 cable relief project in Letcher County. The project was an expansion and extension of telephone facilities into the Blackey area, said J. M. Gipe, Pikeville, manager of Southern Bell operations in Letcher County.

Completion of the project will enable the company to provide improved service to present telephone users and new service to others, Gipe said. It also provides the feeder facilities needed to extend telephone service to the Kingscreek, Linefork, Defeated Creek and Carcassonne areas.

Gipe said the telephone company will spend about $300,000 in Letcher County for outside plant facilities during 1964. In addition, it has spent $20,000 for equipment additions to the Whitesburg central office.

The cable relief project just completed in Blackey involved installation of 75,000 feet of cable, ranging in size from 200 pair cable down to 100 pair cable, Gipe said.

The expansion in Letcher County is a part of a $28 million improvement program being carried on throughout Kentucky during 1964 by Southern Bell.

LEWIS RECEIVES COMMERCE AWARD--Martin W. Lewis (left), Whitesburg, receives a check for $500, representing the Haskins and Sells Foundation Award to the outstanding senior in the University of Kentucky College of Commerce. A plaque, which will be placed in the new Commerce Building at UK, cites Lewis for "scholarship excellence in accounting." Representing the foundation is Eugene W. Morgenson of Cincinnati. ## High school loses association rating Whitesburg High School has lost its accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The action, taken by the association at a meeting in Louisville earlier this week, resulted from the fact that Superintendent of Schools Dave L. Craft does not have an advanced degree, the association said.

Craft, who has been superintendent of schools since last January, has 19 hours above a bachelor's degree. The association requires that school superintendents over schools it accredits have at least a master's degree.

Craft holds a certificate of school administration, which qualifies him to hold administrative positions under rules of the State Department of Education but does not meet the requirements of the Southern Association.

Craft has been a teacher for 30 years. He is a graduate of Georgetown College and also received his administrator's certificate there. He has served as principal of Burdine, Dunham and McRoberts elementary schools in the Jenkins Independent School system and also as principal of Jenkins High School. While he was principal of Jenkins High School, the school was a member of the association.

School officials here were surprised at the Southern Association's action.

Whitesburg High School Principal J. M. Burkich said he has been principal at two other high schools--Stuart Robinson and Bardtown--which were association members and the usual procedure is to point out the problem to the school the first year, warn it the second year and suspend it the third if no remedial action has been taken. There was no warning to the school here.

School officials have not decided what action they will take toward getting Whitesburg back into the association. It may reapply for admission next year and will not have to go through another accreditation survey if the association decides to readmit it.

Whitesburg had been accredited for the past two years. Accreditation by the association means its graduates have an easier time gaining admittance to colleges outside Kentucky.

Housing bids taken

Whitesburg Municipal Housing Commission members have accepted the bid of Ramsey and Clubb Construction Company of Shelbyville to build the city's new 40-unit low-rent housing project.

The firm bid $495,000. Since the amount is $45,000 above the $450,000 budgeted for the project, some changes will be made in the plans to bring the bid down.

All changes are subject to the approval of the Atlanta office of the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, which is financing the project.

Don Brown, executive director of the commission, said he believes the necessary savings can be made by changing from LP gas to electric heat. Negotiations on rates for electric heat are now under way with the Kentucky Power Company.

Brown said if the changes can be worked out, construction on the new project will begin within a month.

The project, which should be completed sometime next year, will provide adequate housing for low-income families at rent charges based on their ability to pay. It will be located at the west end of Whitesburg and will be near the site of the proposed new West Whitesburg elementary school as well as near a shopping center to be created as part of the city's urban renewal project which will begin soon.

Ramsey and Clubb also is contractor for the new Letcher County Courthouse and the Whitesburg water works extension project now under construction here.

Other bidders included G. Marcus Jones, Morristown, Tenn., $511,111; W. B. Browning Construction Company, Pineville, $750,000; Coite-Somers Company, Vidalia, Ga., $581,000; Foreman-Lannon Co., Dyersburg, Tenn., $490,200, and Harvard Construction Corp., Cincinnati, $598,988.

Sam Blair retires

Whitesburg barber Sam Blair, whose career as a barber here spans almost 50 years, has decided to abandon work temporarily and spend three months in Florida this winter.

Blair, a native of the Sandlick area of Letcher County, opened his first barber shop in Jenkins in 1915. In two years he moved to Whitesburg and has "barbered" all up and down Main Street for 47 years.

Blair will visit with a sister in Ashland and with his daughter in Paris for a while and will go to Naples, Fla., with his sister the day after Christmas.

Before starting work as a barber, Blair worked with an uncle, the late Steve Fairchild, who was a civil engineer. He also helped to haul materials when the railroad first came to Letcher County.

In his 47 years as a barber, he has missed very few days because of illness.

Blair has rented his interest in the Polly and Blair barber shop on Main Street to Ron Amburgey.

He said he shares the goal of those who believe that educational opportunities should be available to all citizens restricted only by their ability to learn and not by their ability to pay.

Dr. Oswald and Dean Hartford said their only concern in picking a site is to select the one that will best serve the interests of the students.

Members of the local committee said they were impressed by the obvious sincerity of purpose and the impartiality displayed by Dr. Oswald and the members of the team.

The University officials went from Letcher County to Perry County, where they were to inspect other sites for the college, planned to serve the Letcher-Perry County area.

Obituary of
MINNIE H. ADAMS

Minnie H. Adams, daughter of John and Belle Branham, born July 28, 1890, deceased this Nov. 22, 1964, making her here on earth 74 years, five months and five days. She married to Spencer Adams July 7, 1934, and to this union children were born. However, she reared 12 children by adoption--Terrence Worrick of St. Marie Branham of Pound, Va., O. C. Adams of Batesville, Otis Adams, Fort Worth, Tex., Spence Adams Jr., Bedford, Jewell D. Adams, Detroit, Elouise Monroe, Fleming, D. Goins, Cronona, Bert Stern, Richmond, Va., and Ruby C. ran of Covington, Ky., and deceased.

She is survived by two sisters, Ollie Salver and Belle Salver, one brother, Ben Branham, 13 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren and a host of friends and relatives.

Minnie was a good mother, raising her children the very best she could, and giving them the best education she could afford. She will be missed by her good husband, children and friends.

She joined the Freewill Baptist Church in the year of 1934 and was baptised by Elder Monroe Hubbard and Walter Cooper. She lived a good Christian life ever since that time. May God bless all of you children, and to those that are out of the ark of safety please stay in the old path, the path your Mother believed in and the path is Jesus, the way, the truth and the life.

Brother Spencer, just be patient a little while longer, and God will call for you as He did your blessed companion and the one you can meet her never to part again. I know you will miss her the remainder of your life, but remember your loss is Heaven's gain.

Children, I feel sure your Mother's soul is resting in the paradise of God and the good Lord will call her mortal body from the dust of the earth one of these days and give her a most glorious body like unto his own and she will go shouting home to Heaven and will forever be with the Lord. I want to say in closing that Mother is gone and never will return on earth to you, but by the grace of God, you all can go to her in that happy home around God's white throne, where there will be no more sad farewells or separations.

Oh, how sweet it will be in that beautiful land.

So free from all sorrow and pain, With songs on our lips and with harps in our hands To meet with one another again.

Millstone WHO REMEMBERS WASHING CLOTHES IN THE CREEK?

By MABEL KISER

Winter has come to Millstone with all its icy fury. But I remember how many old timers sit by their fires and remember cold days of work in ice and snow. Not too long ago we raised all our food, and land had to be cleared for the next crop of corn, and winter was the only time there was to clear the land. I have seen mothers washing beside the creek bank, heating the water in an open kettle or tub and washing on a hand board. We worked and worked --it seemed the business of living required 13 months a year. But we ate and slept well and warmed ourselves by an open grate. Our large featherbeds were made from feathers from geese we reared on the farm. Of course we couldn't do this now, for our land is worn out, the bugs eat up our beans, our coal is gone and most of our wood. Our old folk are not able to do this kind of work, and our young have had to leave to find work. So the good old days are gone, but the ice and snow are still cold.

Mrs. Bill Stamper is home after visiting her father's sister, Mrs. Patty Singler, 88, at Viper. It was Mrs. Singler's birthday, and all the family gathered to help her celebrate at the Holiness Church in Viper. Mrs. Singler is the widow of a Canadian who died several years ago. She is very alert mentally and made a speech to the 200 or so relatives present at the ceremony. Among the kin was a sister, Mrs. Ellen Fields, 83. Mrs. Singler lives alone and does all her own work, including making a garden. She still crochets and has a handmade bedspread for which she has been offered $100.

Visiting the Ish Everidges over the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Burl Lucas, Sandy and Mike, and their baby sister of Indiana, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Earl Everidge of Valley Station.

The Jake Bentleys were happy to have their son, Junior Bentley, and his wife and baby here from Chicago for Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bentley and family have moved into the home vacated by Billy Bentley behind Sol Meade, and Walden Cuddy has moved into the trailer owned by Sol Meade.

Mrs. Wade Watts, formerly of Kona and now of Knott County, is a patient in the Whitesburg hospital. She is suffering from high blood pressure and a heart condition.

Mrs. Earnest Reynolds is still very ill in the Whitesburg hospital.

We extend sympathy to the family of Jane Baker, 75, who died at her home on the right fork of Millstone Saturday night after a long illness. Mrs. Baker was one of 13 children of the late Martin and Malinda Addington Bentley. She is survived by her husband, Edd Baker, and four sons and three daughters, Carl Baker of Plymouth, Mich.; Martin and Leonard Baker of Millstone; William Baker of Greenfield, Ind.; Mrs. Lula Kilgore, Columbus, Ind.; Mrs. Melinda Queen of South Shore; Mrs. Nancy Ann Bostain of Detroit; a brother, Otto Bentley of Millstone, and a sister, Mrs. Laura Bentley of South Shore; 37 grandchildren and 56 great-grandchildren. Her funeral was held Monday at the residence by Elder Felix Sexton. She was buried in the family graveyard near her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Raleigh and son Harold Ray have returned from a visit with their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kiser, in Valley Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherdy Martin and their new baby daughter were up from Louisville this week for a visit with his parents, the Sherd Martins, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fuller and family of North Carolina were here visiting her mother and family, Mrs. Elmer Wright, Kathy and Michael, of Fleming.

Our sympathy goes to the family of Janie Brown, who died Dec. 1 at the Jenkins hospital. She was the owner of several taxicabs in Neon for many years.

The meeting of the Neon Home-makers which was to be held Dec. 1 was called off and will be held Dec. 8 in Tucker's Private Dining Room.

The Neon Volunteer Fire Department held a radio program Monday received donations from many listeners. The money will help pay for the fire truck the looks of the weather and we are going to need a good truck.

Sorry to learn that Aunt Nicholson of Fleming has been sick. Sunday night John Smith drove her to the hospital, she received treatment but was allowed to return home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. De were pleased to receive a call from their daughter, Jerry W. Collier (Mosselle), bringing them a happy Thanksgiving.

Now that we have had a Thanksgiving, it's time to looking for Santa Claus.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Fuller and daughters Debbie and Sheree Jo have returned to their home in Andrews, N. C., after visiting his grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Day. The Fullers also visited her mother, Mrs. Kate Wright of Fleming. Mrs. Day remains very ill. Others visiting her recently were her niece, Melba, and D. V. Polly and family of Lorain, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Holbrook of Tollivertown, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Arrington of Mayking, Mrs. Wallace R. Day of Jeffersonville, Ind., and Mrs. Kate Wright of Fleming.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Smith were their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Penley of Nashville.

Mrs. Sylvan Holbrook is somewhat improved and has gone to Dayton to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Josephine Sheehee. Another daughter, Mrs. Geneva Tackett, who has cared for her mother since the accident in which she was injured, has returned to her home in Delaware.

Mr. and Mrs. Coon Holbrook tell us their son, Cletis, a city policeman in Hazard, has returned from a successful deer hunt. He bagged one deer.

Mrs. Billy Jean Webb and children, Dale and Rowena, spent Thanksgiving in Hazard with her sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Kiser, and her mother, Mrs. Rushie Sheehee.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Webb and son, Carl Michael, of Louisville, were the holiday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Adams were pleased when their grandson, Jack Stevens, and his wife and family came to see them over the holidays.

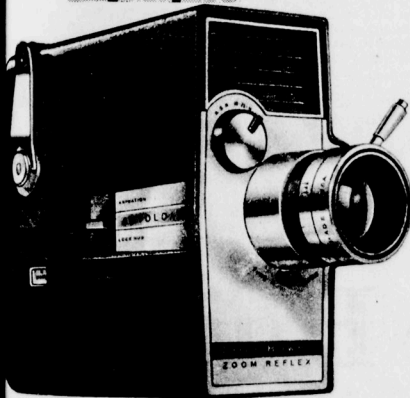

Don't worry about the weather, folks. Winter doesn't begin until December 21, and anyway it will fair up come February.
